

SAMUEL H. POND JD '84

Managing Partner SAMUEL H. POND, ESQ. is a mentor, teacher and legal leader with more than 30 years of experience as a workers' compensation attorney in Philadelphia.

Pond founded Pond Lehocky Stern Giordano, the largest workers' compensation law firm in the Philadelphia region and an Official Partner of the Philadelphia Eagles. His firm is home to the most workers' compensation specialists in Pennsylvania, and his client advocacy has resulted in some of the largest settlements in the nation.

Just as Pond battles in the courtroom to change the lives of his clients, he is equally dedicated to making a law degree more accessible and guiding the next generation of the law community. In 2013, Pond and Jerry M. Lehocky (JD '85), a founding partner at his firm, started the Annual Law School Scholarship Fund in Trial Advocacy at the Beasley School of Law.

Pond has taken his legal expertise into the classroom as an adjunct professor at the Beasley School of Law, teaching substantive and procedural aspects of workers' compensation law, as well as all elements of the profession.

The learning opportunities Pond creates are not restricted to the classroom. He created a successful, hands-on internship program at his firm, which includes Beasley School of Law students every year.

Pond graduated from the Beasley School of Law in 1984.